Reviews for “A Beautiful Passing”

“There is something extraordinary possible at the end of life - when we truly experience living in the moment, loving another being - we transcend everything and embrace living life to its fullest.

Luminous and transcendent...this engaging story is about love, a deep spiritual calling, honor, and the celebration of life itself. In this beautiful book, Kimberly reaches into the depths of her heart to share her journey with her beloved Sita, and writes a memoir whose moments are magnetic and eloquent. We too become clear that she and her companion Sita are divinely appointed soul mates and their story will amaze you."

"This is an exquisitely written story, a deeply intimate account of sharing the last days of life with a loved one - and finding joy and beauty in the unfoldment. Kimberly's innate instinct and practice of ritual and ceremony evokes the ancient remembrance of what it was like when life and death occurred at home, naturally, in community and was made sacred with honoring ritual and tradition. Truly inspiring."

"It is my privilege to be part of honoring and caring for our beloved companions at the end of life. Words cannot adequately convey the deep love of this poignant time shared between closely intertwined lives. Kimberly has done a magnificent job of putting this into words. Thank you, Kimberly, for giving others a glimpse inside your heart and journey with Sita, so we can widen our community of care and compassion for the animals who share our lives. You provide inspiration and hope to all who seek this path, through this beautiful, honest and moving book. May it help many others find the sublime joy of supporting our loved ones on their final journey from this world into the next."
