The Forgotten Warriors of Vietnam

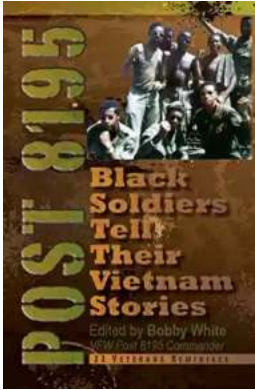

The Vietnam War, which raged from 1955 to 1975, involved the United States supporting South Vietnam in its battle against the communist regime of North Vietnam. Over 2.7 million American soldiers were sent to Vietnam during the conflict, including a significant number of African Americans.

For many Black soldiers, serving in Vietnam meant enduring not only the horrors of war but also the persistent racism and segregation that remained prevalent in the United States. They fought valiantly, shoulder to shoulder with their white comrades, but their contribution to the war effort often went unrecognized and underappreciated.
