Boyd isn't the easiest person to get along with; he doesn't really like anyone at school and doesn't have much in common with his family. But when his father suddenly goes missing, he hunts for answers the only way he knows how; by taking on anyone who gets in his way.

But a destructive global force is developing a new technology that has the power to alter the balance of our future, and they'll do anything to protect it. If Boyd wants to find the truth and save everyone he cares about, he's going to have to take on an enemy that's hellbent on changing the world forever.
