Journey of a Journeyman tells the story a young athlete who was ousted from a travel soccer team due to his small size and spent a year with no physical activity or sports involvement. In high school, feeling something was missing in his life, he found and became immersed in the oldest sport in the world, wrestling. The journey is not one of an Olympic gold medalist, college national champion or even a high school state champion, but of a journeyman. The journey is that of a young man coming of age, a high school athlete, a husband, a father, and a coach. The story spans two generations of competition, goals and many lessons learned along the way. The lessons are not just lessons about wrestling and sports, but about life and living it fully. They are not only for the athlete, but for his wife, his sons, anyone involved in the sport, and especially anyone willing to step on the line, shake hands and wrestle. The story proves that anyone and everyone can benefit from "Wrestling, The Great Giver".
