The Bronx Bull/ Raging Bull II is now a major motion picture released in January 2017 starring William Forsythe as the aging beleaguered ex middleweight boxing champion originally portrayed by Robert De Niro in the 1980 film Raging Bull. The sequel film continues the turbulent saga of the demon haunted ex boxer through hard times and six marriages in his life long search for personal redemption. The film features a stellar cast including Paul Sorvino, Joe Mantegna, Tom Sizemore, Natasha Henstridge, Penelope Anne Miller and Cloris Leachman. Available on Amazon.com

Jake La Motta was a symbol of courage. As the Bronx Bull, hero of the slums and the man Marciano called the greatest fighter he'd ever seen, this sullen kid from the Bronx who rarely laughed or smiled and never talked unless he had to, survived by a simple code - "hit'em first and hit'em hard." He vowed he would make it in this world or die trying. Jake La Motta is a man who refused to let the cheering stop.

If it is true that when God examines a man he looks not for medals but for scars, then La Motta, who in his 90-odd years of survival has taken more hard knocks out of the ring than in, has more than earned the title Middle Weight Champion of the World, for which he sacrificed everything that makes most lives worth living.

Sharon McGehee is a veteran author of books, plays, screenplays and musicals in collaboration with her late husband and partner Chris Anderson. Raging Bull II was their first book collaboration written as an authorized sequel with Jake Lamotta. Their best-selling true crime book Bodies of Evidence chronicles the true story of serial murderess Judias Buenoano who became the first woman executed in Florida's electric chair in 1998, available on Amazon/Kindle.

Jake La Motta is sui generis.
